Spaghetti, Bugs and Drips
A TALK BY IRA GREENBERG

Date: 04/24/2012
Location: Core Auditorium, Busch Campus (Room 101)
Time: 11:00 am
Faculty Host: Dr. Bahman Kalantari

As a painter, artist Ira Greenberg studies nature, visually searching for patterns and forms. As a creative coder, he continues to search, but within motifs that extend beyond the physical, natural world. In this talk, Ira will present an overview of his creative journey and feature his recent work on Protobytes (studies in artificial life) and visualization in the digital humanities.

With an eclectic background combining elements of painting and programming, Ira Greenberg has been a painter, 3D animator, print, web and interactive designer/developer, programmer, art and creative director, managing director, art professor, and author. He is also one of the leading experts on the Art and Code movement, as is the author of: Processing: Creative coding and Computational Art, friends ED, 2007. He holds a BFA from Cornell University and an MFA from the University of Pennsylvania.
